

DIRITTI COMPARATI

Comparare i diritti fondamentali in Europa

AMICUS BRIEFS ON THE NEW CONSTITUTION OF HUNGARY

Posted on 28 Febbraio 2012 by Gábor Halmai

Edited by

Professor Gábor Halmai, Eötvös Loránd Tudományegyetem, Budapest, and Princeton University,
Professor Kim Lane Scheppele, Princeton University

The most recent amicus briefs regarding the new constitutional system of Hungary. "Amicus_Cardinal_Laws..." is on the eight cardinal laws of Hungary, that the Venice Commission is going to review, including those on the churches and the judiciary, and on the Transitional Provisions of the Fundamental Law, which also contains non-transitory provisions. The work was completed and submitted to the Venice Commission on the 21st of February, 2012. (See pdf bellow)

"Amicus-to-vc..." is the brief on the Fundamental Law of Hungary submitted to the Venice Commission in June, 2011. (See pdf bellow.)

The same document in Hungarian bellow is: "Velemeney" A Velencei Bizottsághoz 2012 júniusában eljuttatott jogi szakvélemény magyar fordítása.

The authors of the briefs are non-partisan constitutional scholars that came together solely for the purpose of this task, and decided to work on a voluntary basis, without any compensation.

Download:

Amicus_Cardinal_Laws_final

Amicus-to-vc-english-final

Velemeny